Author:Ludvig Eriksson 7:5

The whole story started With a political demonstration.It was one son in his twenties and his mother in her forties.They Were planning to take part in the demonstration, so they met the rest of the group on a car park. They began to walk when they had come a bit they started do notice that some people threw glass bottles,signs and bangers at de police.The police was holding back the protesters,they were using batons,water cannon,flashbangs and shields.

The younger man threw a molotov at the police,that molotov hit a police.he was damage and they had to call ambulance to get him into Hospital.The police chased after the young man,but they didn't catch him.There was a new crime committed less than a week later.

The crime was a store robbery it was the same man who threw a molotov at the policeman.They started an investigation to catch the man.He was from Irak,and he had a crime history off assault and drug dealing, gang fights.

The investigation had lasted a long time when one of the policeman said:
"What if we get some undercover spies?They decided to send Tom he was the youngest police.They did this to get enough evidence to arrest the right man.The first thing Tom had to do was to get accepted by the gang.It took about a week to get accepted,but it didn't take a long time to get enough evidence to arrest the young man.He got 3 years prison.
